

Transformation Begins

September 2016

It has been a very long journey since we decided that we needed to build a new facility so that our team could be really proud of their environment and we could grow our business safely and remain focused on our product quality. The partnership with Hancock Prospecting has enabled us to reach our long held dream, and we are delighted with our partnership relationship with Mrs Rinehart and her team.

After committing to our design stage by appointing Bosske Architecture in January 2015 - we finally went to tender for our Project Builder and in May 2016, were very pleased to engage Perkins Builders of Bunbury as our Head Contractor.

Our project design has been intensely under review since this time and everything has been triple checked and some opportunities for improvement found. We are now unbelievably excited to see September 6th mark day one on site and from hereon in Bannister Downs Dairy will physically transform into a facility that provides more regional employment and is also able to welcome visitors to come and enjoy a coffee at our new café.

December 2017 will be a proud time for us at Bannister Downs, when our new partnership facility is built and operating.

Construction work beginning on the new Creamery site

Site pegs for construction

